GLENPOOL – Leisure Hospitality Management of Jenks will open its 89-room Holiday Inn Express Glenpool in the first week of July, Director of Development Roshan Patel announced Thursday.

Key Construction is completing the $9 million project from designs by Tulsa architect John Sanford. The four-story, 35-employee brick hotel will offer 89 rooms, with 24 of those suites. It also features a new breakfast bar concept, indoor pool and spa, along with meeting space to augment the neighboring Glenpool Conference Center and City Hall.

This will make the seventh hotel in Leisure’s portfolio, with one under construction in Claremore and four others in development. The Holiday Inn opens with a built-in audience.

Glenpool Mayor Momodou Ceesay said the convention center has 97 scheduled events through December. It has hosted 530 since its opening in Tapp Development’s Southwest Crossroads mixed-use complex three years ago.
